

GOING ABROAD

I'm going to spend a month in Iceland. It will probably be cold but anyway I hope it will be fine. I am going to stay at my aunt's house. I will tell her everything that's happened to me. We will probably have a good time together. She might show me the capital of Iceland, where she lives. Maybe I will relax in the public thermal pools. Perhaps I will hike on one of the mountains there. I'm going to see a geysir because they have got a lot of them. If I have enough time I might visit one of the most breathtaking waterfalls in Iceland. I won't go clubbing there because I don't know any people there. I'm worried about living there. They definitely have different traditions from us. I will buy some souvenirs there so what if I don't have enough money. I'm worried about that too. I will probably miss my best friend and my family a bit. I will probably feel homesick, I will ring my family or I will send them a photo. Maybe my best friends and I will have a videocall every day, if they have enough time. I might meet new friends. I hope people there will be nice.
